MARCIA G. SHEIN

CRIMINAL DEFENSE: WHITE COLLAR

Marcia G. Shein is a federal criminal defense attorney who has represented clients in every federal circuit court of appeals and the United States Supreme Court. She is a nationally recognized attorney in federal matters dealing with trial, plea and sentencing mitigation, and appellate and post-conviction litigation. Shein has served as president of the Georgia Association of Criminal Defense Lawyers and is a life member of the NACDL. Her articles have appeared in publications such as The Champion magazine and The Federal Lawyer magazine, covering such topics as PTSD from Vietnam to Iraq and Afghanistan; Cybercrime and the Fourth Amendment; and determining loss in white-collar cases, among other relevant federal topics. She has authored chapters in Cultural Issues in Criminal Defense, published by Juris Publishing and West Publishing's Aspatore books. Attorney Shein has spoken before numerous criminal defense associations and on network television as a legal analyst. She has taught criminal justice courses at Troy State University, Kaplan University and Broward Community College.
